

Northwestern University in Qatar: A Distinctive Global University

Marwan M. Kraidy

Founded in 2008 through a partnership between Northwestern University and Qatar Foundation for Education, Science and Community Development (QF), Northwestern University in Qatar (NU-Q) educates creative, ethical, and impactful communicators, and contributes both to Northwestern's excellence and the rise of Qatar as a knowledge-based society. NU-Q's vision is multidisciplinary, multi-modal, multilingual, and focused on the Global South as an intellectual and creative space for research and teaching. NU-Q positions itself as an "embedded institution" in which U.S. higher education overlaps with regional and "Southern" circuits of academic exchange that catalyze critical debates on enduring and emerging issues, and enables a relationship between the university and the world that is globally competitive and locally resonant. NU-Q is a distinctive university dedicated to that vision.
